

DEVELOP MATH AND SCIENCE SKILLS

A shift to digital learning can open up opportunities for your high school student to improve technical skills or develop a better understanding of math and science. Below are some ideas and resources that can help!

Name & Link	Description
World Science Festival Video Library	Listen to scientists discuss the world's most fascinating discoveries.
Biodigital 3D Human Anatomy	Explore interactive models of the human body.
Microsoft Certifications	Jumpstart your technical career by earning online certifications.
AWS Educate	Become AWS certified with Amazon's global initiative.
Virtual Tours of Science and Tech Museums	Visit science and tech museums around the globe.
Crazy Kites	Build your own kite from common household materials.
Astronomy for Teens	Reach for the stars with this free site devoted to teaching teens astronomy.
Instructables	Join a community for people who like to make things.
Tynker	Learn to code with free interactive resources.
Teach Yourself Physics	Learn physics through free lectures, online courses, and learning materials.

Remote Learning Resources

Copyright © Intel Corporation. All Rights Reserved.
Other names and brands may be claimed as the property of others.